Creative Ways to Learn Handwriting

Grafismo creativo

A fresh way to work on handwriting skills!

This set of activity books stimulates children's manual abilities, creativity, attention, concentration and self-confidence, allowing them to feel sure of themselves as they tackle writing. It's important to focus on the process rather than the result.

The books contain lots of surprises: decorated sheets to cut out, pop-outs to make a collage, and a spinner to assemble and play with.

Nuba

Nuba

Nuba, Moli, Aris and Bebi – characters who for the past decade have accompanied so many of our country's boys and girls on their learning journey – are the protagonists of this literary collection. This close-knit and varied group of friends, each of whom has a clearly defined personality, now come together to share a series of entertaining adventures, tackling such issues as empathy, frustration, imagination, friendship, free time, responsibility and the acquisition of knowledge.

Colours Galore!

¡Cuánto color!

What could that black something be? Touch, play, discover, think, experiment and make decisions in a space somewhere between the real world and the colourful fantasy universe of this book. An entertaining concept that invites the reader to participate in the story and become part of it!

A fun picture book to mix things up, designed to stimulate children's creativity.

Colours Beyond Compare!

¡No hay color!

A cosmic egg that leaves a swathe of colour behind wherever it goes kicks into motion if you activate it. Help it move through space, across the sky, through the forest and even around a fantasy world to the greatest destination you can imagine.

Raúl Bermejo, expert in educational innovation and great champion of the role of play and experimentation in learning, brings us a new and entertaining concept in shared, interactive reading.

Meshalim
Mashalas

Jesus walks the land declaring the truth ...
The Gospel is astonishing! So, Jesus offers examples, metaphors, sayings, recounting parables so the simple of heart can understand. One of the forms of expression he used is known as a mashal in Hebrew. Following this ancient tradition, we present this collection of tales to introduce small children to some of the figures in the New Testament.

Giraffe Dreams
Los sueños de la jirafa

The little giraffe is still very short and can hardly manage to see over the top of the grass. Her mother, who is very tall, tells her all about the animals on the savannah that she can't see. She envisions the enormous buffalo as black clouds with horns, the elephants as big as mountains, the crocodiles as tree trunks....

Kobén

I'll bet looking in the mirror makes you afraid. We are many things and nothing; one image and several. Koben is afraid to look at himself in the mirror, he feels an emptiness in his chest that prevents him from being happy. Until one day, Koben heeds a call from his heart and sets off on a journey to his inner self. Will the hummingbird, pre-Colombian symbol of the soul of the resurrected warrior, give him the gift all travellers long for: coming to terms with ourselves?

Ali and Ramboline

Alí y Ramboline

One day, the Danish government decided to purchase circus animals to give them a more decent life. The idea was to begin by freeing four elephants from a circus: Ramboline, Djunga, Lara and Jenny. But an unexpected twist also put the camel Ali in the spotlight. Most of the world's media reported on this curious tale of unconditional friendship.

The Bad Guys

Malos de cuento

A collection of short stories featuring characters that are traditionally considered the 'bad guys' (witches, vampires, ogres, ghosts, mummies and pirates). But in the end, they play different roles.

The use of pictograms makes these stories very accessible to kids. Along with the handwritten letters and sweet, colourful, meticulous illustrations, they enhance the texts and guide the child to a detailed reading of the image.

Each title includes a set of six cards that can be used to play Happy Families.

Puppies

Pupis

A collection of socially committed books.

The Puppies collection was created for early readers, offering stories of adventure and friendship. The characters in this collection find themselves on entertaining adventures as they steadily create a group of friends and a refuge, a safe hideout where they will live in harmony, peace and freedom. The titles in this collection deal with complex problems that are sometimes difficult to address. These are the puppies who, along with the cat and the partridge, feature in the stories. Early childhood experiences – bullying, rejection, paternal cruelty, abandonment – are reflected in an easy, profound way.

The Stamp Thief

La ladrona de sellos

Red Riding Hood wants to apologize to the wolf. She thinks the woodcutter's punishment was too severe and that he shouldn't have been killed. She has sent him dozens of letters addressed to the moon, but has never received a reply. The postman, from whom she has been stealing the stamps for her letters, explains that the letters have not been getting to their destination. It is impossible for them to reach the moon. But he shows her another method: they will write her message in a puddle and when it evaporates, it will rise up to the moon. This way, the girl's apology will reach the wolf.

Beauty and the Beast

La Bella y la Bestia

In 1756, French writer Jeanne Marie Leprince de Beaumont published the best-known version of a tale whose origins date back to the 2nd century. It has also been retold by authors from the Italian Straparola to Perrault and Madame de Villeneuve – each in their own manner. To save her father from death, Bella – the most virtuous daughter of a bankrupt merchant – agrees to go and live with the Beast, the brutish, untamed master of a great mansion. Little by little, she comes to know and be won over by him.

Francesca Dell'Orto offers us a magical interpretation of a story that attests to the value of inner beauty and the importance of not relying on appearances.

Three Tears

Tres llàgrimes

Grandma Amanda told me, 'If you're sad, cry, but just three tears.' 'Why three?' I asked her. 'Because when you have tears in your eyes, all you can see are ugly things. When we stop crying, we can beautiful things,' she explained.

An emotional, beautifully illustrated book about the death of a grandparent, narrated in the voice of a child.

At Least She Understands Me

Ella sí que me entien

A new creative collaboration between Ricardo Alcántara and Noemí Villamuza. On this occasion, they offer us a tale from the honest perspective of a boy who feels misunderstood in some of his daily encounters.

My friends booed me when I missed an easy goal. They don't realise that my right leg kicks in whatever direction it feels like. My left one too. Jaime gets cross with me because he wants to be my only best friend. I tell him I've got a few friends. When I go swimming, my best friend is Didac; in my parents' village, it's Jacinto; and at school, it's him. Jaime doesn't like that, and he doesn't want to play with me anymore.

Sesame the Squirrel

Ajonjolí

Sesame is a purple squirrel who dashes here and there, wherever her curiosity takes her.

She wants to learn everything about everything, but sometimes she isn't satisfied with the answers she receives. With audacity, intelligence and good humour, the inquisitive Sesame is discovering how the world works. The fact that she is a squirrel and not a human girl is merely an accident of nature.

Titles published

1 Sesame and the Working World
Ajonjolí y los trabajos

There comes a moment in the life of every child when one question is asked: What do you want to be when you grow up? Although Sesame is still a little squirrel, her teacher has told her to think about it. And so her future is suddenly turned upside down! When she gets older, Sesame wants to do something that she really likes, something that makes her happy and is also useful. What could it be?

3 Sesame and the Tartan Paint
Ajonjolí y el tenmeacá

Sesame is restless. More than usual. She's like a purple whirlwind. Her birthday is coming up and she can't wait to find out if she's going to get any gifts. To stop her from messing up the entire house, her mother gives her a task to do: she must go to her grandmother's house and bring back some tartan paint. The problem is that her grandmother can't remember where she put it and Sesame has never seen it. The hunt is on!

Tales of Saint George and Dragons

Cuentos de San Jorge y dragones

Dragons, princesses, caves, knights ... The story of Saint George and the dragon gives kids the opportunity to let their imagination fly and experience narratives in which they themselves can become the protagonists. The stories of this legend feature simple texts that are accessible to early readers and colourful illustrations. In these tales set in different periods, we meet not-so-valiant knights, amusing princesses and dragons that are not a bit fierce – to the enjoyment of little ones and the adults who read with them alike.

Reading for Writing

Leer para escribir

The Reading for Writing collection combines well-known stories and knowledge around literature and narrative with the aim of learning and practising creative writing.

Tales of wonder, legends and myths are part of a world of stories that can be used as a starting point for understanding narrative and literary resources and engaging our creativity when writing new stories.

Each title includes:

- ▶ Accessible versions of the stories.
- ▶ Commentary and analysis of each one, highlighting its relationship with the genre and the resources used.
- ▶ Exercises and creative writing prompts to put the learning into practice.
- ▶ General tips on writing, narrative and storytelling.
- ▶ Information about the origins of the tales and how they have come down to us today.

Gregorio's job is showing flats to potential buyers. One day he shows a flat which, much to his surprise, feels somewhat familiar. But this is to be expected, as it's the house where he spent his childhood! When he finds a portrait of himself that he drew on one of the walls, he is transported to a fantasy land where he will rediscover the excitement, thirst for adventure, warmth of family and so many other feelings he had almost forgotten. .

Guide to Monsters, Beasts and Extraordinary Creatures

Guía de monstruos, bestias y seres extraordinarios

Severina Malaespina and her good friends Odila and Pimpinela decided to document and study the extraordinary creatures that lived in their area: domestic beasts, horticultural creatures, wooded monsters, and more. This book collects many of their notes and naturalist illustrations, along with a few gafaroids (which look a lot like our photos) and a number of anecdotes about their experiences.

A new and fascinating world filled with extraordinary creatures.

Astrogames

Astrogames

Bico and his friends live on the Chunk, an insignificant asteroid ruled with an iron fist by Mr Goldbrick. All the families are forced to work for this tyrannical businessman, whose earned his fortune in the cotton bud business. It's hard to have hobbies and dreams on such a grey asteroid, where almost nothing happens. Luckily, they have astrobball, an awesome galactic sport played in gravity-free stadiums under constantly changing rules. Follow the most unpredictable sports competition in the entire galaxy!

1 Great Game in the Scrapyard

Partidazo entre chatarra
Living on the Chunk, the last asteroid in the galaxy, is pretty much a nightmare. But not quite, because Bico and his groups of friends have a golden opportunity: they will be taking part in the Astrogames. Of course, first they'll have to defeat the android team of the underhanded Mr Goldbrick.

2 The Mystery of the Minotaurs

El misterio de los minotauros
The Chunk's team heads to their first intergalactic game on Krete, a planet inhabited by aliens with bull's heads. Bico and his friends have never taken on an opponent in a more difficult arena. The worst part is that the playing field is a labyrinth that changes with every step.

3 Aquatic Enigma

Enigma acuático
The team from the Chunk are feeling bold after defeating their first rivals. But the party may soon be over: they must face the squad of sirens in an underwater battle. They'll need to turn the tide if they want to make it to the next round of the Astrogames.

4 The Illusionists' Trick

El truco de los ilusionistas
Hoops of fire, clown costumes, three-eared bunnies ... The kids from the Chunk face off against a team that is all magic. At play in this underhanded game is much more than a ranking: Mr Goldbrick has prepared the dirtiest trick in his crooked repertoire.

5 The Black Hole of Chaos

El agujero negro del caos
If they don't want to go out in a resounding elimination, the kids from the Chunk will have to add two new members to the team. But someone is planning to sabotage them and open upon a strange inter-dimensional hole, letting in Cro-Magnons, dinosaurs, medieval knights ...

6 A Magic-Proof Team

Un equipo a prueba de magia
The Chunk's team has reached the semifinals and will face the squad with the most titles in the history of the Astrogames, none other than the representatives of Epic, the most magical planet. Before that, they will make a key stop on a very rare planet full of chickens and sheep: The Earth. In order to deactivate their almost invincible opponents' spells, they will have to work out who the new team leader is.

7 Attack of the Gamers

El ataque de los gamers
Just one game left: the big final! To prepare for the match, the Chunk's team heads to Apolous, a peaceful, harmonious planet, the perfect place to relax. But things don't go to plan! They realise they've forgotten the date of their match against the Gamers of the Galaxy, and they're about to lose the final without having even played. If they arrive in time, they will find the most exciting venue in the history of the Astrogames: a gigantic video game.

Miranda

Miranda is eight. She likes soap bubbles, the smell of rainy afternoons and birds that fit in the palm of her hand. She likes violet sweets and she also likes playing the black keys on the piano at her grandmother's house. But the thing she likes most in all the world is listening to stories, especially when they're about real life.

A series of tales about noted women –Joanna the Mad, Frida Kahlo, Marie Curie, Cleopatra, Coco Chanel, Billie Holiday, Amelia Earhart, Indira Gandhi, Jane Goodall, Emily Brontë, Hedy Lamarr, Nadia Comaneci, Concepción Arenal and Eva Perón- told by Miranda, a highly imaginative girl with a passion for history.

Female Friends of Jesus

Mujeres amigas de Jesús

The 'Female Friends of Jesus' project stems from the desire to show and highlight the female protagonists of the Gospel, who are an example of following Jesus and the building of the Kingdom of God.

We wanted them to be written from a place of love and joy, and so we asked Carmen Sara Floriano to put words to that desire.

Step by step, the project has become a reality

A Dog's Destiny

Destinos perrunos

If you have ever adopted a four-legged friend, or are planning to do so, you've surely been told that a dog is a big responsibility, that it requires a lot of time and can even be dangerous. And this is undoubtedly true.

This book presents tales of the fates of fifteen dogs, fifteen incredible, terrifying, sad or horrible stories. Each one of these dogs, or their owners, has had an extraordinary destiny, or at the very least, one that is out of the ordinary.

Anne of Green Gables

Ana la de Tejas verdes

The life of Anne Shirley, orphaned at the age of two, has never been easy. But an unexpected mix-up allows her to find a home with the siblings Matthew and Marilla Cuthbert on their farm at Green Gables. Now middle aged, the Cuthberts were expecting the orphanage to send them a boy who would shoulder some of the burden of their farm work, but instead they got Anne. After initially rejecting her, they become fascinated by the vivid imagination of this 11-year-old redhead and the depth of her personality. So, they abandon their initial aim of getting someone to help them, as they find someone to care for in Anne.

Illustrator Antonio Lorente brings a new look to this great Canadian literary classic.

The Adventures of Tom Sawyer

Las aventuras de Tom Sawyer

Tom, a boy who has little time for rules, lives with his Aunt Polly, his half-brother Sid and his cousin Mary in the fictional town of St. Petersburg, on the banks of the Mississippi River, some time between 1840 and 1850. His restless, curious, mischievous personality leads him on incredible adventures, not all of them entirely free from danger. Together with his friends Huckleberry Finn and Joe Harper, he makes an appearance at his own funeral and plays at being a pirate, Indian and bandit. An American literary classic whose early success was only surpassed by its sequel, The Adventures of Huckleberry Finn, which many consider the Great American Novel.

Antonio Lorente's illustrations brilliantly capture the soul of this great classic by Mark Twain, a lively portrait of childhood.

Peter Pan

Peter Pan

Peter Pan, the boy who never wanted to grow up, takes us to Neverland, the territory of childhood. This classic of world literature unceremoniously forces us to consider what it means to grow up and carries us into the world of childhood in its purest state.

This beautifully prepared edition presents the complete version of the novels Peter Pan in Kensington Gardens and Peter Pan and Wendy.

With his magnificent illustrations, Antonio Lorente provides a novel and modern take on this classic work by James M. Barrie.

Little Women. Part I

Mujercitas. Parte I

Against the backdrop of the American Civil War, the March family live a simple life, marked by the uncertainty of having their father away on the front. Meg, Jo, Beth and Amy are four sisters with vastly different personalities and interests. They struggle to find their place in the world, confronting their reality, their desires, their virtues and their flaws. And as they forge their identity, they will have adventures and misadventures alongside their beloved neighbour, young Laurie.

The marvellous illustrations of Antonio Lorente bring Louisa May Alcott's unforgettable Little Women to life in an exquisite illustrated edition.

Little Women. Part II

Mujercitas. Parte II

It's been three years since the family meeting that sealed the engagement of Meg and Mr Brooke, and the two are about to marry. In this second part, we watch the March sisters as they move into adulthood while trying to stay true to their desires. Meg, the most conventional of the group, will soon start a family. Jo will seek to become a writer and continue publishing her stories in the papers. Amy will travel to Europe to continue her artistic education. And fragile Beth will remain with them as long as her strength lasts. Life holds big surprises in store and will teach them that happiness might not be found where they expected.

Boris and the Ancestral Voices

Boris y las voces ancestrales

Agustina Tocalli-beller ILLUST Daniel Blanco Pantoja

208 PAGES

The saga of Boris comes to Peru. The action takes place in the cities of Cuzco, Lima and Nazca. Boris and Mimi meet a mysterious woman. She becomes a sort of protector and guardian of knowledge when technology fails them, and the siblings lose their way in the unknown country. However, the unerring influence of the Peruvian ancestors teaches the two teens of today about the best social network: humanity. The story includes historical data on archaeological sites and ancient mysteries of Peru, as well as modern-day problems like caring for the planet, the use of technology and gender equality.

Things That Happen Only Rarely

Son cosas que pocas veces ocurren

Daniel Nesquens ILLUSTRATIONS Ona Causa

144 PAGES

An elderly man, F.G.H., observes the countryside from the window of his house. It's been a long time since he went outside. The surprising appearance of a bee allows F.G.H. to tell the story of his life and the lives of his neighbours, wife and daughters.

At the same time, although he pays her no attention, Anabell – his best friend's daughter – visits every few days to look after the garden, bring him his shopping and leave him a note on the other side of the door. She never goes inside. Through these missives, we hear the voice of Anabell, who narrates everything going on in town. Finally, the bee will see the two protagonists come together and it will be able to return to its hive.

The Extraordinary Planet A

We Care About Climate Change!

El extraordinario Planeta A. ¡Nos importa el cambio climático!

What is the climate change? And why are we so concerned about it?

The Earth is sending us clear signals: torrential rains, severe storms, cyclones, droughts, extreme heat and cold are getting stronger and stronger. This book explains in a simple and entertaining way what is happening and why, how it affects us, what actions are being taken to counteract it and how we can also contribute to stop it in our daily lives.

There is no planet B. The Earth is extraordinary and we have the duty of taking care of it.

Parables of Jesus

Parábolas de Jesús

Jesus of Nazareth spoke of God, of the Kingdom of God... mysterious matters that cannot be perceived with the senses. For this reason, he referred to them using specific everyday realities with which his listeners were completely familiar: shepherd, vineyard, king, banquet, sowing, etc. But he used them as symbols to speak of truths he wanted to reveal.

This wonderfully illustrated book contains the best-known parables of Jesus: beautiful short stories that convey wisdom. It is not necessary to be a believer to appreciate them. They may spark your interest for very different reasons: literary, educational, reflective or religious. You will also find famous paintings and engravings, as well as lessons, games and activities relating to the parables of Jesus, which children and adults can share for a highly instructive and entertaining experience.

A very valuable cultural transmitter.

Saint Dominic de Guzmán
Talks About His Life

Santo Domingo de Guzmán nos cuenta su vida

Saint Dominic de Guzmán was an enterprising man and an indefatigable preacher. He was a simple man with a deep inner life and very compassionate. His burning desire for the light of Christ to shine for all, his compassion for a suffering world and his zeal in serving a church that he hoped would broaden its tent to encompass the world led him to found and organize the Order of Preachers.

Just Let Yourself Be Found

Simplemente, déjate encontrar

Beñat is a recreational instructor for a group of teens from Vitoria-Gasteiz. The story begins when he finds himself drawn into the suffering of Yickson, a recent arrival to Spain from Venezuela who takes part in an overnight hike with Beñat's group in the Huesca Pyrenees. As the bond between the young man and the boy grows, so too do Beñat's desire to engage and his questions about the meaning of life itself, triggering a profound experience of faith and discernment. This spiritual quest will put him in touch with the most painful realities of suffering and allow him to discover signs of love in such situations. The outskirts of major Latin American cities, jail, the reality of indigenous peoples and Colombian guerrillas will be his schools of life and faith.

Message in a Bottle

Mensaje en la botella

Each day I offer you what I am and what I feel. I am the one who falls, who makes mistakes, cries and grows tired at times. And also the one who trembles. The one who believes that any excuse is a good one when it comes to spending time with those we love without an eye on the clock. Without haste, enjoying, letting ourselves go. The one who speaks positively and also claims the right to sadness and grey days (without having to give any explanation). That's me!

This message is for you. Because you are someone very special and we want to care for you and for you to care for yourself. You are a unique person, incomparable. And this is why these messages will open up new paths to self-realization, to dream, to travel, to open you up to everything around you.

I Need Myself. I Need You, Jesus of Nazareth

Me necesito. Y te necesito, Jesús de Nazaret

The title I Need Myself refers to that time in life when you don't see, or feel, or hear, or believe the way you previously did. And you say to yourself, 'I NEED MYSELF' with the sole intention of looking lovingly at what I am and do, live and love. This is the moment when my life changes, and how.

The subtitle I Need You, Jesus of Nazareth is the experience and conviction of the support which has been essential for decision-making in my life. It is a personal encounter with the Messiah and Lord, who has won my love and whose name I cannot help but utter, speaking about him with my heart and with my life. And everything related to preaching the Gospel and knowledge of Jesus of Nazareth, linked to the core of what it is to be human.

Of Love and Loves

De amor y amores

Before your eyes you have a few but possible and varied responses to urge you to ask yourself questions. This range of reflections begins with a simple 'I love you'.

An 'I love you' of Love and also loves, lived, felt and remembered here, in the same way a kiss is a response, beyond words, to an emotion. The sole aim of these suggestions is to help you to reflect and to respond, freely and independently, without prejudices or other determining factors. Beyond what these words can provide for you, my sole aim is for each answer in life to be yours, your own, personal and non-transferable. I hope that, in these answers, you find light and a brave, determined courage, so that you seek and find the person you want to be, and live as that person!

I Prefer You (y + crucified Christ and x the crucified)

Te prefiero (y + crucificado y x l@s crucificad@s)

The book you hold in your hands refers to Jesus of Nazareth, like a loving declaration that expresses 'I love you', yes, and also: 'I PREFER YOU.' Yes. Y +. It is the Love that wins my heart in place of + fragility (THE CROSS) where Jesus shows his true essence, all his humanity, where Jesus appears as God, and where + God worthy of love is revealed. Where in Him, I am + ... And if I add x the crucified, it is to discover that there, everyone in Him, we are beloved, to the extent that he gave up his life.

This is the conclusion of a thematic trilogy that began with 'I LOVE YOU' and continued with 'ON LOVE AND LOVES', which strives to shout out that love is alive and moving towards Emmaus ... And in Him, in all the pathways of life.

In my Arms

Entre mis brazos

A hug is among the physical expressions that best represent human emotions. There are hugs of consolation, or of love. There are hugs that give us strength and courage, hugs that convey the joy of a meeting, hugs that symbolize forgiveness, hugs that say goodbye. All of them express a coming together.

A Midsummer Night's Dream

El sueño de una noche de verano

A Midsummer Night's Dream belongs to William Shakespeare's group of love comedies. The author devises a complex plot with three contrasting groups of characters. The story is divided into two worlds: the real world and the green world of the forest and the fairies, a place of dreams and liberation from which the protagonists will return transformed, leading to a happy ending.

The Legend of Sleepy Hollow

La leyenda de Sleepy Hollow

Ichabod Crane, a humble schoolmaster with ambitions of moving up in the world, is sent to Sleepy Hollow, a remote valley in New York state with a rich legacy of fantastic supernatural legends, particularly the Headless Horseman who roams the area at night. His decision to court young Katrina Van Tassel, the beautiful daughter of a well-to-do farmer, brings him into conflict with another one of her suitors, Abraham 'Brom Bones' Van Brunt, a rough local youth who will try to prevent Ichabod from realizing his desire to climb the social ladder. This rivalry will result in an outcome that is as mysterious as it is hair-raising.

The best known of Washington Irving's tales, magnificently illustrated by Antonio Lorente, who adopts a more Gothic, yet also painterly, quality.

Carmen

Carmen

In 1845, French author Prosper Mérimée wrote this Romantic novel in which he portrays his vision of Spain during this period: traditional and exotic. He recounts the tale of the tragic and passionate loves of a Gypsy cigar maker, a bandit and a bullfighter. The fame of Carmen, his female protagonist, would spread throughout the world thanks to the opera by George Bizet. And she would become a great myth of a deadly, free and seductive woman, capable of dragging those around her down into ruin.

Magnificent illustrations by Benjamin Lacombe bring a powerful Carmen to life, a fascinating and dangerous woman who weaves the web of her tragic fate.

The Crack

La fisura

Rosana Curiel Defossé

144 PAGES

When the events of the past weigh so heavily on you that the present seems unliveable and the future too difficult to imagine and a crack opens up in your soul, it takes courage to persevere.

If you do make it through, however, the reward can be a future full of promise, and, above all, forgiveness.

Light in the Cloister

Luz en el claustro

Diana Coronado

296 PAGES

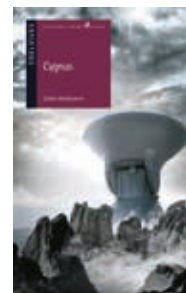

In the early 20th century, three women meet at a convent in the city of Puebla de los Angeles, while outside uprisings demanding independence are beginning. The desire for autonomy and justice pervades the cloister and, just as it does outside, it triggers a drizzle that turns into a downpour. Peace comes in the form of three colours: green, white and red. They appear not only on the flag of the new country, but also in a dish which still tastes of freedom today.

Eeeegunon, World!!! Good Morning, World!

Eeeegunon, Mundo!!! ¡Buenos días, Mundo!

For each day is an opportunity to live and feel; to fall down and make mistakes, and to give yourself permission to cry, shout and set your boundaries; and also to tremble, dance and serenade life; to greet the day with litres of coffee and the perfect amount of the right kind of friendship. To those conversations that feed the soul and the heart, to life in its purest form and opening up the possibility of being with the people we love without checking our watch, without rushing, enjoying, taking things as they come.

Looking after our time, connecting from the heart, moving the soul, moving (ourselves), focussing on the positive, discovering the light, calling for action, also, the right to sadness and blue days (without having to explain ourselves too much).

Knowing that you're alive; sketching the outlines of each day and giving it colour. In this here and this now, to the tune of: Eeeegunon, World!!!

Geniuses

The Ghostly Echo of Their Voices

Genios. El eco fantasma de sus voces

Deep. Sometimes eccentric. Highly sensitive. Brilliant creative minds. This book profiles twenty geniuses of 20th-century culture who contributed to creating a new and non-conformist vision of the society in which they lived. Picasso, Dalí, Hemingway, Cortázar, Hitchcock, Hugo Pratt, Frida Kahlo, Coco Chanel, Maria Callas, Alejandra Pizarnik and more.

The Lorente brothers have composed a penetrating and moving portrait of each one of these wonders. And, as if it were a ouija, the reader soon begins to hear the ghostly echo of their voices.

Chess Story

Novela de ajedrez

Mirko Czentovic, world chess champion, is travelling from New York to Buenos Aires to take part in a few exhibition tournaments. On the voyage, a millionaire chess enthusiast and other travellers challenge him to a game in exchange for a considerable sum of money. They are joined by a mysterious character, who helps them with their moves. This is Dr B, a Viennese nobleman who has managed to flee from the Nazi army, who is a self-taught master of this noble game. The realism and play of light and shadow in the images by Tlacuiloa, winner of the 1st Edelvives International Illustration Award, lend considerable dramatic force to the most famous fictional work by Zweig, a harsh critic of the Nazi regime and the methods of psychological torture used by the Gestapo.

The Blind Sunflowers

Los girasoles ciegos

An illustrated edition of this work, which is made up of four tales that take place during the outbreak of the Spanish Civil War and the cruel, vengeful early years of the post-war period. The emphatic prose, direct and proverbial, reinforced by a sustained poetic vigor, the drama of the lives portrayed, and the subtle link between the four stories won Alberto Méndez the recognition of readers around the world. And it is generally believed that this is not just another narrative about the Spanish Civil War, but one of the most thrilling written to date.

The first and only work by Alberto Méndez, which earned him a posthumous National Fiction Award and unanimous international acclaim.

Everything is Forgotten

Todo se olvida

Criptana Senzi, the Skylark, is a great soprano who has been suffering from Alzheimer's for many years. Pedro Bennasar, the journalist charged with writing her biography, must immerse himself in the past of a woman without memories. Why did Criptana Senzi lose her memory? What did she want to forget? What did she forget?

When he discovers the letters that Criptana sent and received over the course of her life, Pedro Bennasar understands that he must also rebuild his own.

With this novel of music, pain and hope, featuring unforgettable characters, Carmen Guaita concludes her 'trilogy on forgiveness', which also includes the novels Goldfinches in the Head and The Terrarium.

The Window

La ventana

In the final years of the 21st century, teachers are provided only for the children of the élite, and most of the world is educated by artificial intelligence. In Mérida, near the Roman theatre, a small company of classical actors struggles to keep the essence of humanity alive. They invite the teacher Venecia to break down the barrier between the two systems and instruct Alcibiades, a boy who is eager to learn. The education will transform the future of both and perhaps of all humanity.

A novel about the future, the present, art, love, humans and the secret key that unlocks the possibility of a better world.

Carmen Guaita shows herself to be a visionary. The debate she presents today is the key to our tomorrow.

The Terrarium

El terrario

In June 1959, Juan Arnabal – a Basque businessman who had succeeded in working his way up from a mining village to the head of an industrial empire – meets Ramón Erburu, the unacknowledged son he had left behind. Ramón is as bold and ambitious as he himself was, but has very different ideas. The conflict between father and son, the surrounding social turmoil and an unexpected event disrupt Juan's life to such an extent that it is changed completely over the course of just five days.

The Terrarium is a novel of searching, ethics and memory. The moral journey of a man who, like all of us, must choose between the demands of the world and those of his inner self in order to answer life's great questions.

Goldfinches in the Head

Jilgueros en la cabeza

A prestigious journalist who at the age of forty has not yet begun to live, a relaxed morning amid childhood flavours, an unremarkable call from an old love, an imagination that overflows and a wave of memories that pour out... Over the course of two hours of rebellion and memory, Eulalia Requena becomes reacquainted with her childhood full of stories, her unhappy youth and her confused adulthood. An unexpected event can suddenly transform all the pain into promise, all the darkness into light.

Goldfinches in the Head is the story of a woman with a deep desire for the genuine, a woman who finds herself and is able to build a bridge of forgiveness and hope into the future. Or perhaps it is only her imagination.

Strategic Academic Coaching

Aprender haciendo. Coaching escolar estratégico

An academic coach is a person with conceptual and practical training who has shown themselves to be effective in their duties (an expert); has a pioneering spirit, not just as a colonist; presents theoretical training following the needs posed by tackling specific challenges; drives strategic thinking according to the situations that will be experienced; and supports without taking over or replacing.

For the coach, the coaching system entails have up-to-date and documented experience in the processes being advised on, an in-depth knowledge of behavioural resources, learning styles and respect for the rhythms of life.

A basic characteristic of people trained in this approach is the strength to unlearn rigid and psychosclerotic patterns, as well as a deep humility for learning and questioning.

Neuroarquitectura. Aprendiendo a través del espacio

Why do we not behave the same way in a packed restaurant as in a cathedral at dusk? Why do a teenager and a pensioner need different environments to feel comfortable? How can we improve our quality of life through space? Our organs are interconnected, they capture information from our surroundings, feeding our nerve tissue. Understanding what environmental factors affect our organs helps us to understand how our body functions in each space it inhabits. This is neuroarchitecture. This book will immerse you in the relationship between the environment and our body, and you will understand the fundamentals of something that accompanies us throughout our entire life: learning.

Felt Words

Palabras sentidas

Words express more than ideas; they are feelings representing the best and worst of us. Words that mean something beyond the dictionary definition. Words are essentially values; they are each one of us. With this book, Felt Words, the author seeks to bring those words from the mouth to the heart and from the heart to the mouth. Living, dying, feeling, loving, understanding others, showing regret, struggling, in short, treasuring all that we feel and can only express with the precise word. Through 'eighty' words, this book enables the reader to feel for themselves what others feel the same way they do.

In this world, in which image becomes communication, we cannot lose sight of the fact that only words enable us to convey the details of a life filled with emotions. A book to savour time, life, friendship, disappointment, but most of all, the value of what we call humanity.

Felt Words is a call to respect the emotional value of words. Surrender to the sound, the meaning and the feeling of what makes us so differently the same, words.

A Teacher among Landscapes.
Overlapping Tales of an Impossible Peace

Un maestro entre paisajes. Relatos cruzados de una paz imposible

This story, in which the key figure is a human universe – there being no single protagonist – seeks to portray the life of the men and women of many small towns around Spain in the post-Civil War period. It features a multiplicity of characters, and beneath the false guise of there is nothing going on beat countless feelings, loves and heartbreaks, suffering, injustices, frustrations, repressed passion, irreconcilable hate, but also good-hearted women and men, noble actions, small windows open to hope.

These windows are represented by a number of good and endearing people, true mediators ever searching for a peace within the sphere of me–you, because they couldn't go beyond. Most noteworthy among them is the teacher, Don Manuel. In this story, he is situated among landscapes. These are physical landscapes and human landscapes, through which he moves with generosity, amid difficulties, dilemmas, doubts and problems, with a few certainties and convictions he tries to share.

Emotion-Centred Wellbeing.
The Emotion Management Method

Bienestar centrado en emociones.
El método para gestionar emociones

Emotions are not a paint that make our lives rose-coloured spaces. Emotions are a benefit only to those who dare to live what they experience, even if it is not always positive.

The aim of this book is to clean up our emotional life, creating changes in how we make room for what happens to us emotionally so that we can manage it thoughtfully.

Emotional wellbeing involves managing the heart with the head and the head with the heart. That is the healthy purpose of emotion. This book will show you the path to achieving that emotional balance.

Inhabiting Your Inner Self

La interioridad habitada

Educating your inner self is by no means a luxury or a minor consideration. The end goal is self-care ... [and to this end] developing all the latent human possibilities (your memory, your imagination, your will, your intelligence, your emotiveness), but also the ultimate depth of your being, spirituality, accepting that this may take on very different forms, expressions and modalities depending on educational and historical contexts.

The model of inhabiting your inner self involves two types of mastery: exercising the human mastery that speaks and acts from without and the inner mastery that resides within.

The Wind Blows in your Favour Let Go of Suffering

El viento sopla a tu favor. Suelta el sufrimiento

The painful human condition provides much to think about and much to feel. But it also provides much to do. There are two main paths to healing human life when ill: medicine for physical illness and psychology for psychological recovery. On both paths there are different levels of illness, and therefore, different methods and healing processes.

Beyond your Wounds Accompaniment and Healing

Más allá de las heridas

The deepest wounds come from family, friends and authority figures, but the most effective balm for these wounds lies within them. We are social beings, and so, if the wounds come from the indifference of others, the healing balm comes from the care of others. In this regard, having a person or community who will accompany the wounded person is key. Accompaniment for people with inner wounds is a real art for which goodwill is not enough, it must be learned.

Creating a Culture of the Inner Self In the Classroom, in Pastoral Work, in Daily Life

Crear cultura de interioridad.

En el aula, en la pastoral y en la vida diaria

This book is intended for anyone interested in personal growth and social transformation. It is for anyone who believes it is best to start with oneself. It recommends a path of consciousness and openness to the new, of rediscovering the power of the little things; of commitment to equality, peace and social justice; of openness and transcendence; and of compassion, welcoming and recognition of the human and divine dignity of all human beings.

Educational Coaching

Coaching educativo

Coaching is a guidance-based process which enables people to get to where they want to, can or should be, starting from where they currently are. Coaching combines a set of skills, tools and techniques that make it possible for people to reach their goals. Coaching is action.

This book is intended for anyone who is interested in educating and who wants to get a clear idea of what coaching entails, how it works and what it is used for. It shows how to apply personal guidance strategies to learning and unlearning processes.

Essence

Designing Spaces to Foster Learning and Creativity

Esencia. Diseño de espacios educativos

School is defined before we enter it. Emotions ignite along the very path to the school as we contemplate the surroundings, the building, the doors or the walls and fences. Every educational space is an ecosystem in which the green areas, the playground, the entrance hall, the bathrooms and the learning spaces welcome you or imprison you. The students' development and creative maturation depend on the creativity not just of the teachers, but of the entire educational community. There lies the importance of paying attention to and redesigning the space aptly described as 'the third teacher' in educational jargon. The author, a versatile artist, has been an educator at various educational institutions.

Learning / Service and Sustainable Development

Aprendizaje-servicio y desarrollo sostenible

Our planet's global emergency begs our attention. In the face of these great global challenges, the sum of individual responses is clearly not enough, for we must address social problems through community networks to 'make the true social transformation we desire possible'.

Based on this premise, this book presents a dialogue among different perspectives from diverse cultural and geographic lived experiences, reflecting on how education contributes to the building of global citizenship and sustainable development.

Should the Stones Fall Silent Psalms for the Path

Aunque las piedras callasen. Salmos para el camino

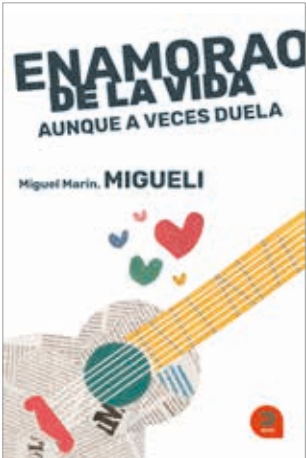

One hundred and fifty psalms born out of life, from thankfulness and hope, inviting us to enter the human heart to discover the wealth of gratitude it contains.

A wealth of thankfulness that heals us. It heals us of our accumulated selfishness, of that fatal fixation with comparison and comparing ourselves, of understanding life as a competition in which all that matters is winning and losing is a tragedy, of living our lives enslaved by waiting on and depending on the opinions of others. This book is medicine against all that.

Lovin' Life Even When It Hurts

Enamorao de la vida. Aunque a veces duela

Singer songwriter Migueli shares a life devoted to others, in service of the disadvantaged, those who live on the sometimes-invisible boundaries of our daily experience. A book filled with music, striking both happy chords and other, less enjoyable, ones. But all of them, without exception, are imbued with energy, humour and good vibes. Migueli devotes his life to caring for others, and that experience is transformed before our eyes into a living score, equal parts exciting and intimate.

Each song is a journey, just as this book is a journey. A journey through the author's life, yes, but also the lives of many he encounters along the way, who bare their souls for the reader.

Solidarity Against the Elements
Ties That Care

New!

Fraternidades en la intemperie. Vínculos que cuidan

Today's climate requires an approach that underscores the forging of ties and a drive towards care. Because there is no greater love than a tangible love. Solidarity Against the Elements is a form of refuge in community, and 21st-century Christianity's contribution will be to build a Church made up of a solidarity group movement in service of the most disadvantaged.

In times of global metamorphosis, it is advisable to identify what we want to preserve, what elements of the Gospels feel of our time, and thus, what is essential to our lives. We shall be the weavers and transformers of this world, according to the ties we foster and preserve.

A Revolution in Caring for Pastoral Care in Our Schools
Annotations for Careful, Caregiving
and Caring Evangelization

Una revolución de los cuidados para nuestra pastoral escolar. Anotaciones para una evangelización cuidada, cuidadosa y cuidante

Our schools need a revolution in their care of all those they care for. There may be incurable people and situations, but there are no uncareable people or situations. And in pastoral care in schools, caring and care should be core determining factors.

These pages can guide us in examining what direction we are heading in pastoral care, what we have neglected, what we need and what we are called on to revolutionize in the evangelization of our educational institutions. This book seeks to be a gift for those educators – men and women – who feel that their calling, which has also become their profession, is linked to caring, care and caring for oneself. This work came out of the shared experience, reflections and dreams of a Catholic school that wants to continue being the Gospel for our world.

Nothing Without the Other
Living in Contemplation of the Sign of the Times

New!

Nada sin el otro. Vivir contemplando el signo de los tiempos

Over the course of many years, I have experienced my life as a pilgrimage, a continuous journey with hurdles and setbacks, but maintaining my ideals and a drive to continue fighting, making progress, moving forward. Highly aware that I am a vessel of clay, that I often do what I do not wish to, that I am weak, but in the certainty that if there is something I cannot allow, it is faintness of heart and apathy. What is most important is not to get there first but to know how to arrive with our enthusiasm intact ...

I view Christianity as supporting others, as working together for their happiness. Three statements by St John keep returning to me: 'No one has ever seen God.' 'If we love one another, God lives in us.' 'God is love.'

Jesus Educator

Jesús educador

This book represents a return to the basic principles, path and current situation of the school of Jesus.

Jesus did not seek to reform the life of his people through war or with more legal requirements, rather by other types of message, teachings (a school), new birth, human mutation. That mutation, which must be understood as the seed of humanity (cf. Mc 4), is still underway. And this is demonstrated by the five sections of this book, which include the main subjects of Jesus' teachings.

Believe in the Heart of city

Creer en el corazón de la ciudad

These reflections, intended for curious believers, were written as a chronicle, as a word, from the heart of the city. From the heart of the human, where we peer into the Mystery of God and seek the light of faith. From the heart of the human, we open ourselves to the salvation of God and seek the traces of God in the city of humans. From the heart of the human, we try to perceive the questions, searches, hits and misses, lights and shadows of our society, in order to bring light and meaning to the Christian faith.

Teaching Spiritual Intelligence

Resources for the Religion Classroom

Educar la inteligencia

In the context of multiple intelligences, teaching spiritual intelligence opens up new horizons to stimulate and redefine the presence of religious knowledge in a school environment. This book proposes a reclaiming of the inner self and its eminent educational value. Taking on the challenge of cultivating spirituality among children and young adults calls for one prerequisite: stimulating and developing our own spirituality.

Revitalized Spirituality for the 21st Century

Un nuevo comienzo

Espiritualidad renovada para el siglo XXI

In 2017, the Marist Brothers celebrated the bicentennial of their founding. To offer motivation and support during each one of these years, Brother Emili Turú, as Superior General, wrote a series of letters to the Marists of Champagnat (that is, to both brothers and lay Marists). In this book, we share these letters with a wider audience for the first time, in the hope that they may serve as an inspiration for other people who wish our church to move towards becoming a community with a Marist countenance. José Manuel Vidal, who is responsible for the second part of the book, writes from a certain social and ecclesiastical context, with particular groups of people in mind.

In Plain Language

Communication in the Church

Dímelo en cristiano. La comunicación en la Iglesia

More than just a religion, Christianity is a system of values, a way of life.

This short guide offers a number of tips on how to communicate in 'plain language' in different situations: the press, school, NGOs, politics, society, family and, of course, within the Church itself – the institution and the one formed by men and women who joyfully and unaffectedly bear witness to what they believe and who they are.

It is not always easy, but it is urgent, and essential, that we undertake this task if we want the message brought by Jesus – the Good News of the Gospel – to continue to reach every corner of the Earth with the same power.

The Container of Silences

Contenedor de silencios

The book compiles a collection of essays and compositions, which aims at stirring up our consciousness. They are images that invite to reflect. The common thread is the reality that surrounds our world, reality which quite often is distorted or manipulated; it is a re-reading of reality which invites to think. A world of constant visual impacts in which having images at hand that allow us to deal with a complex reality is indispensable.

Images to be cut up into pieces, recreated, shredded, handed out, given away... Images for thought!

How to Speak about Resurrection Today?

¿Cómo hablar hoy de la resurrección?

Resurrection is one of the central elements in the Christian faith. Speaking about the Resurrection means to dare to tell the history of the God of Jesus, narrating the history of man's suffering.

Taking the appearance of the Rise Lord to the disciples of Emmaus as a leading thread, this work proposes we think about the context in which the announcement of the Resurrection is done today and offers us the keys to speak about it in a credible way.

Three seemingly different worlds, that is the subject of this book. Three vocations called to recognize and complement each other, taking a straightforward approach and an interest in the others. Walking Together in Marriage

La historia es de dos. Caminando juntos en el matrimonio

This book extends a hand of partnership to marriages in their many situations, beginning with how God views them, so that they may look within themselves and plan their journey together. It urges a rediscovery of the fact that your family and your relationships can be illuminated by the Word of God, which always speaks of hope.

Savour each reflection, sharing it with your partner, and together, write your own story, a story of two... a story of God.

Structural Reform
and Converting Mentalities
Challenges and Trials for a Synodal Church
Reforma de estructuras y conversión de mentalidades.
Retos y desafíos para una Iglesia sinodal

In the Church, the starting point for reform is a modern-day reading of the signs of our time in the light of the Gospel. We acknowledge the need for a synodal change at all levels in the life of the Church in response to the reigning theological/cultural model that has been unable to overcome a clerical and pyramidal culture.

The outcry of victims and the demands of new emerging subjectivities call on us to rethink the power relationships and governance of an ecclesiastic institution in the light of a profound change in its mode of action. This transformation will foster the renewal and emergence of new ministries, services and callings to spread the Gospel and serve justice and peace in our shared house.

Meditation with Kierkegaard
Cuando todo se desmorona. Meditar con Kierkegaard

This book brings forth the benefits of mediation. Søren Kierkegaard is a powerful source of both spiritual inspiration and philosophical consolation. Meditation involves delving into reality, opening ourselves fully to what is, overcoming the dualities of spectator-actor and reader-author, becoming one with the text. This is only possible if we free ourselves from our own thoughts, take on the form of a vessel, and empty ourselves mentally and emotionally to receive the text within us.

Father Ángel. Without Time

Padre Ángel. Sin tiempo

In 2015, Father Ángel received the most important gift of his life: San Antón Church – located in the Madrid neighbourhood of Chueca – one of the most admired and controversial in Spain. There his work focuses primarily on persons experiencing homelessness. Six years later, Justo Gallego handed him control of the famous cathedral of Mejorada del Campo, which he himself built from recycled materials over more than 60 years. The priest gave it a new purpose: an inter-religious centre that welcomes all people, regardless of where they come from or what religion they practise.

This book seeks to tell the story of a sharp-edged personality with no few contradictions. The years of the pandemic, the lockdown, the housing crisis experienced first-hand, the vaccine, the subsequent economic crisis, vulnerable community members, the function of the Church, his relationship with politicians, the war in Ukraine ... Father Ángel is a modern man, although what is truly modern about him is his way of thinking.
